

Bid on the Real Treasures! Supporting the Programs that Keep People Living

The true treasures of TIHAN are the people we serve--people living with HIV who come to us seeking support and care.

The men and women who come to TIHAN seeking support services often arrive facing difficult challenges. Sometimes, the challenges are physical, results of an immune system under attack, keeping them unable to fight off opportunistic infections. Sometimes, the challenges are social and emotional, caused by depression, isolation, and discrimination. And many times, the challenges are financial, the result of living on minimal fixed disability income that doesn't cover the rising costs of living, especially living with HIV.

TIHAN's volunteers help enroll these men and women into care, informing them about TIHAN's programs and services, and ensuring that they are aware of all available services--including medical care, social support, case management, financial assistance, nutritional support, and other needed services. Caring volunteers offer a welcome of compassion to these CarePartners living with HIV.

TIHAN provides an atmosphere of respect and inclusion, helping to empower CarePartners to live fully and independently. We invite them to our weekly breakfasts, provide them care packages stocked with toiletry items, engage them with their peers through our Poz Cafe lunch program, advocate for their needs with other providers, offer financial assistance for their emergency needs, support their children through back-to-school supplies and holiday gift programs, link them with other agencies and services, and offer CareTeam support when needed. You can help us provide these basic needs by making a tax-deductible donation to support people living with HIV.
